ALLNET RJ45 fuse coupler 50s bulk, drop socket, PoE capable, up to 10GBit in ABS housing.

With this coupler you can easily and effectively protect your valuable IT equipment from damage. The two parts are fixed by magnetic contacts and will release if the tensile load is too high. This prevents RJ45 jacks from being torn out and devices from being destroyed by carelessness. This security product from ALLNET was developed especially for our hospitality customers and IT system houses. The standard specifications for the release force of RJ45 plugs and sockets according to IEC 60603-7 is higher than that of our drop socket. This ensures that the connection between the two magnetic couplings always falls apart before any damage to the device occurs. Nevertheless, an unintentional disconnection of the magnetic connection is not possible.

You can continue to use the existing infrastructure, because the connector supports all types of RJ45 connectors, from Cat5-Cat6a, PoE according to IEEE 802.3 af/at/bt (90Watt) and up to 10GBit.

Protect your devices!

This device complies with EC Directive 2002/95/EC (RoHS). One set in PE bag with QIG
